Letter From FHSA Executive Director

October 2018 will be a month Floridan's will never forget due to an appearance by Hurricane Michael. This devastating storm made an impact on Florida's Panhandle. Head Start programs serving Bay, Calhoun, Franklin, Gulf, Madison and Wakulla Counties are still dealing with major damage affecting children, families, and staff. FHSA has been working with these programs in the affected areas to help connect their families and staff with support services.

FHSA has partnered with state and national child care and early learning associations to develop the Florida Early Learning Disaster Relief. This initiative was created to help children, families, and communities recover and heal from disasters and restore their lives back to some normalcy. Donations can be made specifically to a fund of your choice. DONATE HERE

How Early Head Start Prevents Child Maltreatment

Child Trends

Documenting and understanding the long-term impact of early childhood programs on child and family well-being, particularly on child abuse and neglect, is a challenge. Programs that serve families with infants and toddlers, such as Early Head Start (EHS), typically strive for positive outcomes while children are enrolled in the program, but also after they have left. Unfortunately, most research on programs for infants and toddlers focuses exclusively on immediate impacts on child development, school readiness, and family functioning without follow-up over time to understand their longer-term well-being. ## Updates from NHSA

Head Start Recognized By White House as Leaders in Treating Effects of Opioid Epidemic

WASHINGTON, DC – Representatives of the Head Start community attended the bill signing ceremony today for bipartisan legislation to treat those affected by the opioid epidemic. The SUPPORT for Patients and Communities Act did not contain all of the recommendations the NHSA-led Opioid Working Group recommended in its policy paper released in July. Nonetheless, Head Start leaders are still hailing the legislation as a strong first step in expanding the role of the holistic family and child development program to effectively respond to a scourge that has affected more Americans than any previous substance use disorder. Find more information here.

NHSA will host its 35th annual Parent and Family Engagement Conference in Orlando, FL on December 17-21, 2018. This year's conference will expose a wide range of new resources and thinking on the topic of young children's challenging behaviors and how Head Start programs can address the wellness needs of children, families, and staff. ## What the Trump Administration's Latest Attack on Immigrants Means for Kids

A new regulation change will hurt immigrant families, including U.S.-born children

S. border by proposing a new regulation that could lead to the separation of even lawfully present immigrants from their citizen children. As researchers focused on creating opportunities for children to succeed, and as passionate Americans, we are appalled. And like so many across the country, we are ready to speak out and fight back.
